Advanced Business NLP

R&A Consultancy & Training, To Search, To Learn, To Teach.

DEVELOPED BY
Colin Reeve

PROGRAMME BENEFITS:

- Become a masterful coach.
- Improved leadership and influencing skills.
- A rich toolkit to effect change in yourself and others.
- Understand how to achieve exquisite alignment in your personal and professional life.
- Ability to identify the root causes of human behaviour.
- Personal skills which will help you achieve healthy high performance for you, your team and your business.

“Stillness and silence gives us the opportunity to experience things without reference to the old database, to talk to another human being without holding our own agenda for them, and by doing so allow others to be themselves. to know themselves and to grow.

Colin Reeve, from:
“The Way of Artistry & Grace”

Advanced NLP:

An Integrated Skills Programme

Designed for those who have previously attended an R&A “Business NLP” Programme or those who have attended other accredited Practitioner NLP courses.

As with Business NLP, the advanced programme continues to apply NLP to business and continues the themes of leadership, management, teamwork, communication, coaching, relationships and a change.

You will learn new skills, develop your existing skills, and practice, practice and practice them again to a much deeper level. By doing so you will create an understanding of the art and skills of NLP that will then truly be in your walk. This will positively influence you in your professional and personal life.

At this advanced or “mastery” level of NLP you will learn much more than technique. You will have a greater understanding of the power of the NLP presuppositions. You will have the confidence to let go, as well as take on new challenges.

You will fully integrate all your previous learning and align your behaviours, your skills and beliefs with your sense of mission to empower you and others around you.

*“NLP, the study of human excellence, an innovative approach to learning, change and growth.
It is the new technology of achievement that will allow you to release your full potential and help others release theirs..”*

Mastery

Your lead trainer Colin Reeve and other Master NLP Trainers will give you personal guidance and coaching and will help you to become a master of the following skills with respect to yourself and others:

- Communicate with even more influence and clarity using advanced language patterns.
- Access creativity, critique constructively, and implement plans effectively.
- Take to a higher level, the ability to see the world from another point of view.
- Re-frame negative perceptions and situations through elegant conversational techniques.
- Unlock potential by re-defining limiting aspects of someone's personal history.
- Achieve a clear understanding of the unconscious structure of beneficial changes in your life and learn how to re-apply them consciously to create even greater success.
- Model the successful strategies of those that you respect and admire and learn to implement them for yourself.
- Constructively re-evaluate team issues and dynamics by “re-imprinting” past experiences.
- Put your NLP skills together within an integrated framework.

Colin Reeve

Colin Reeve has been working as a consultant, a coach, a trainer and a mentor to Business Leaders for the past 16 years. He has worked with Boards of Directors, Leaders, Managers, Sales and Production Teams, helping them develop the appropriate skills, behaviours and attitudes necessary to make themselves and their businesses more successful.

Starting his working life in the Engineering Industry in the North East of England, he worked his way from Craftsman to Senior Executive to Management Consultant.

Colin is a fellow of the CIPD. He studied NLP at the University of California and qualified as a Master Trainer. He also travels around the world as a Teacher of Karate-do. He combines his business experience, NLP skills and the mysteries of the Martial Arts into a unique blend that makes the learning powerful and enjoyable. Colin is also the author of “The Way of Artistry & Grace”.

The supremely practical skills of NLP taught by experienced business leaders and master trainers in a way that ensures you can apply the learning and have an immediate impact on your business, yourself and on those around you.
